

Automotive Dealerships

Pullman & Comley has a long history of representing the automotive dealership industry, serving as general counsel to numerous dealers including one of the nation's largest for more than 20 years. The attorneys in our Automotive Dealers practice understand the regulatory, business and legal issues facing automobile dealers and have the experience to provide valuable counsel in areas important to this sector, including franchise, Department of Motor Vehicles appeals, employment, agency, acquisition, leasing and financing, taxes, real estate, zoning, environmental and waste handling and succession planning issues.