

Connecticut Power and Energy Society (CPES) Conference

May 15, 2019

Attorney Fred Klein, Chair of the Energy and Utilities Section of Pullman & Comley's Regulatory, Energy and Telecommunications practice, moderated the panel discussion Views From the Corner Office: Getting to 2050 at the 26th Annual New England Energy Conference and Exposition hosted by Connecticut Power and Energy Society (CPES) and Northeast Energy and Commerce Association (NECA).

In this session, executives across emerging energy sectors offered their perspectives on how their sectors are evolving and how to succeed in the upcoming decades. The audience heard from leaders in a New England utility embarking on grid modernization, a company transforming itself from wholesale to innovative retail service offerings, a medium-sized end-user engaging in innovative energy management initiatives, a leader in renewable generation, and a national company seeking to enter and grow the new car-charging industry.
