

Alex Hernandez Comments on Outcome of Psychologist's Trial

August 6, 2012

Connecticut Law Tribune

"Psychologist's Romance Results In Rare Prosecution" featured Pullman & Comley Attorney Alex Hernandez, who recently tried to acquittal the case of State of Conn. v. Alan Shulik, working with Attorney Reese Norris of Butler Norris & Gold.

According to Alex, "This was an important trial because it set a precedent by a distinguished and experienced jurist in the interpretation an application of the statue."

To read the full article, please click here.