

IN THE NEWS: Pullman & Comley Attorney Lee Hoffman Comments on Energy Working Group Recommendations

February 5, 2011

Pullman & Comley attorney Lee D. Hoffman, who served on Connecticut Governor Dannel P. Malloy's Energy Working Group, was quoted in an article appearing in the Connecticut Post and Stamford Advocate about the Group's recently published report suggesting that more of the state's future energy should come from renewable power sources.

Reporter Vinti Singh writes that according to Hoffman, "the state should also invest in local sources of energy... A good renewable energy portfolio, like a good stock portfolio, should be balanced."
