FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

HARTFORD, Conn., July 8, 2020: Andrés Jiménez-Franck, an associate in Pullman & Comley's Labor, Employment Law and Employee Benefits practice, was elected as an officer of the Connecticut Hispanic Bar Association (CHBA) at the association's annual meeting (held virtually) on June 20, 2020.

Andrés, one of five new officers for the 2020-2021 term, will serve as the Director of Communications on the CHBA's Board of Directors and has been involved with the organization since receiving his J.D. from the University of Connecticut School of Law last fall.

In his role at Pullman, Andrés represents a wide variety of clients, from small business owners to Fortune 500 companies, in state and federal court, mediation and arbitration. He counsels employers to ensure they are in compliance with state and federal laws, and crafts employment policies to promote a productive and inclusive workplace. "We are pleased to have Andrés as part of our team and are impressed with the meaningful contributions that he has made so early in his career," says Megan Carannante, co-chair of the firm's Labor, Employment and Employee Benefits Department.

While in law school, Andrés was a member of the Asylum and Human Rights Clinic, where he successfully obtained political asylum for his client. He also served as the membership editor of the Connecticut Public Interest Journal and was also the president of the Latino Law Student Association. Andrés received his B.A. from Western Connecticut State University in Justice and Law Administration and participated in the State of Connecticut Judicial Branch Experimental Learning Program where he reviewed and audited docket files. His experience also includes work as a volunteer legal assistant in the Mass Torts practice of a Danbury firm.
