

What is the Appropriate Punishment for Actual and Perceived Threats in the Workplace?

---

Working Together

02.28.2014

By Mark Sommaruga

Employers increasingly are concerned about threats to safety in the workplace. At the same time, employers must be aware of the rights of any employee accused of wrongdoing. For a discussion of a recent case highlighting this tension, please visit Education Law Notes.

Tags: CT Superior Court, State Board of Mediation and Arbitration