

SEMINAR: Practicing Law in Compliance with Ethics Standards

April 26, 2011

Pullman & Comley attorney David P. Atkins was a speaker at this seminar presented by the Connecticut Bar Association's Committee on Professional Ethics. In an interactive presentation with audience members, he focused on how law practice in the 21st century is subject to an ever increasing number of ethical and regulatory requirements. This program offered practical guidance to the busy practitioner on meeting professional obligations to clients and the public and on minimizing the risks of malpractice and disciplinary complaints.
