

Legal Considerations When "Going Solar"

September 10, 2014

Pullman & Comley Regulatory, Energy and Telecommunications attorney Brad Mondschein presented a webinar with Alta Energy. The generation, purchase or sale of solar energy can offer multiple financial and sustainability benefits for commercial and industrial property owners and tenants, but it can often be a complex transaction. This webinar explored some of the legal concerns that need to be considered when deciding to "Go Solar" – whether you are entering into a power purchase agreement (PPA) or deploying a solar energy system on your property. Brad helped the attendees understand some of the common issues that arise in solar transactions and the possible solutions.
