

Steve Bonafonte Comments on Corporate Privacy Issues

May 14, 2012
Hartford Business Journal

In "Connecticut Firm Taking Organization Charts Public," reporter Susan McDonald writes about a Norwalk start-up business that is seeking to make corporate organizational charts public on a new website, www.wikiorgcharts.com.

Efforts like WikiOrgCharts might provide a lesson for companies to be mindful of the information they allow their employees to disseminate, said Steve Bonafonte, a partner in Pullman & Comley's Cybersecurity, Privacy and Infrastructure Protection practice. "They might want to take steps toward training their employees and putting agreements in place regarding what information should not be shared outside the company."

To read the full article on the Hartford Business Journal's website, please click here.

Practice Areas

Privacy and Data Security